Believe Fire In Empty Farm House Arson Job

Investigation of the fire that destroyed an empty house on Francis road, about half a mile west of Mokena early Saturday (Dec. 8) morning is being conducted, according to Mokena Fire Chief Robert Rust.

"It appears to be a case of arson," the chief said.

The building, that was originally a two-story farm home, was destroyed. It has been unoccupied for the past year. There were two fires in the place. Both were sighted by a householder on Normandy Lane who was viewing television. The first fire was noticed around midnight. The blaze appeared to be inside the house. The Mokena fire department was summoned and firemen found a few pieces of furniture in the house and one piece, a couch, was burning. It had been pushed against a wall, apparently with the intention of setting the building afire. Firemen carried the couch outside and extinguished the fire. There was no sign of a blaze inside the structure when firemen left. Around 2 o'clock

Saturday morning the TV viewer had given up on the late, late movie and was going to bed. She glanced out of a window in the direction of the old house and saw that it was ablaze. The Mokena department was summoned a second time. That time, however, the fire had gained too much headway. The house is old, the wood was thoroughly dried out and with the glass out of the windows--knocked out by vandals over the months--gave it plenty of draft.

Sparks and embers were flying about the area and the New Lenox fire department was called out to help keep the blaze confined to the old structure. Chief Rust said firemen found a can on the premises that had contained some type of petroleum mixture. The can appeared to be of recent origin, he added.

The house was formerly the farm home of the late Andrew Cappel. It is owned now by Robert Fredin of Frankfort. It is on the south side of Francis road, several hundred feet off the highway. There have been several fires of incendiary origin in the area in the past several months. Twice fires were started at the Planters club, Wolf road and 159th street, the last one destroying the interior of the place.

There were also a couple of fires in and near Frankfort that were set. Those responsible for the Frankfort fires were apprehended, two of them grade school boys, and three in their late teens. Origin of the Planters club fires is still unsolved.

FULL-UP- Shown here is a class being held in the cafeteria of Lincoln-Way. The cafeteria is one of the areas serving as a team-teaching room for the social science department. Classes with enrollments of as high as eighty students use this area daily. Adaptations have been made in this room to make it serve two functions...a place to eat and a place to learn. There will be more students in the school next year and no more room unless funds are voted to build an addition, it was pointed out by PTG leaders.

N. Lenox Plans To Annex Industrial Sites

Action was taken by the New Lenox village board last week to annex three parcels of land owned by John Warren along the Michigan Central railroad west of New Lenox.

A petition asking annexation was filed with the board by Warren and Village Attorney William Penn was instructed by the board to draft an annexation ordinance for review and probable adoption.

At a meeting of the New Lenox plan commission that was attended by members of the village board, Warren and his engineer, George Reiter, gave a summary of their plans.

Warren owns several farms in the area and is said to be one of a very few men who control so much frontage along area railroads. The three parcels of land he proposes to annex total about 600 acres in area and could be used for light industry and residential purposes, Warren says. One parcel lies south and west of St. Jude's church; the second tract is west of the village between Haven avenue and the Michigan Central; the third area lies still further west along the railroad and comes up to the edge of Cherry Hill.

With the railroad and FAI 80 (this interstate highway will run thru the second or middle tract proposed for annexation Warren said) available to bring in material and carry away finished products, those interested claim the location is ideal for industry. An industrial park is planned for this middle section, Warren told village officials.

New Lenox's need for industrial development is great, officials and business leaders agree, and Warren's proposition they pointed out appears to offer exceptional opportunities.

Postmaster Les Brown, who represented the planning commission at a recent meeting to hear discussion of community planning and development sponsored by the Northern Illinois Gas Co., appeared before the New Lenox village board last week. He advised the board that professional help was available for such planning and suggested certain firms be invited to explain their offerings.

When Mokena and Frankfort hired a professional planners to draw up a matter plan for the area New Lenox was invited to join in as it was looked upon as a natural hook up that would embrace the entire area. New Lenox declined to join in at that time and whether it will enlist the aid of professional planners now is a matter the officials and civic leaders must decide, it was pointed out.

A few years ago New Lenox was on record as opposed to any industry coming into the community but that thought has disappeared, buried under tax bills, a village spokesman said last week.

L-W Residents Will Vote On Building Bonds Saturday

Voters of Lincoln-Way high school district will go to the polls Saturday to vote on a $750,000 building bond issue. The polls open at 12 noon and close at 7 o'clock.

There are six polling places: No. 1 -- Frankfort grade school.

No. 2 -- Mokena grade school. No. 3 -- Ann Rutledge school. No. 4 -- Haven school, New Lenox.

No. 5 -- Manhattan grade school.

No. 6 -- Arbary Hills school, Beechnut Drive.

Persons must vote at the polling place in the precinct in which they reside. Persons do not have to be registered to vote in a school election but they do sign an affidavit that they are citizens, are 21 years of age or over and have been residents of the state a year, the county 90 days and the district 30 days.

The election was called by the board of education at the request of the PTG which circulated a petition asking that the bond election be set again. There were almost 2,000 signatures, according to John Porick, PTG president.

This will be the third time this bond issue has been up. This backing it point out that passage is necessary if Lincoln-Way high is to expand its facilities to meet the growing enrollment. Officials at the school say there are now 965 students and next September the number is expected to reach 1,100.

Plans for the addition call for 25 classrooms. These would include three science rooms; three for social studies; six for business studies; four for English; two for foreign languages; four for mathematics and three large teaching stations for physical education classes. These three rooms would be 56 feet square. The present gym was designed for school with an enrollment of 700. The three additional rooms, officials said, would serve the ultimate needs of the building when the student population reaches 1,700.

Besides the classrooms there would be additional space for the library; additional kitchen space and toilet facilities; an additional boiler and heating facilities to meet the needs due to the expansion; additional space for administration and guidance; larger quarters for the infirmary and a maintenance garage for the use of the school buses.

Population for the district is constantly growing, it was pointed out and school officials say the present school plant is not really large enough for the current enrollment and will be too small to accommodate next year. If construction of the addition could be started in the early spring, it was said, officials hope that some of the rooms could be ready for use in September.

CHIMES GIVE MAGIC note to Christmas carols and the Lincoln-Way high school band and chorus have a set to add to the beauty of the annual Christmas concert to be staged this Sunday afternoon, Dec. 16, in the school auditorium. The young man in the picture is George Passas, the girl, Diane Muehler.

Give Christmas Concert

The annual Christmas concert of the combined music department of Lincoln-Way high school will begin at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16, in the school's auditorium.

The program will open with four band selections "Christmas Rhapsody" and "Ring those Christmas Bells" to be conducted by Robert Taylor; a trumpet and drum solo, featuring Carol Hammond and George Passas and "Sleigh ride" with Larry Cullison directing.

Under the direction of Tom

Olson, the combined chorus will sing "O Holy Night," "Beautiful Savior," "Carol of the Drum" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem" featuring soloists Miss Lorraine Kramer and Charles Johnson in the latter two numbers.

Following the chorus selections the band will play "Overture to the Messiah" and both the band and chorus will sing and play "Quiet Christmas," "The sound of Christmas" and conclude the concert with the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Announce First Winners In Free Coupon Contest

There is still this week and next that some fortunate individuals in the area will receive some extra Christmas cash.

Nothing to buy, no box tops to send in, no jingles to write, nor is there any need to cudgel one's brain in an endeavor to explain why, in 25 words or less, you could use a little extra money.

There is some writing, however. One has to write his or her name, address, and telephone number, on one of the coupons appearing on another page of this paper. Then drop the coupon in a box set up for that purpose in one of the 20 participating stores in the contest. That is all one has to do to be eligible for the prizes to be drawn this week and next.

Winners in last week's contest were drawn Monday.

Lucille Batson, of Frankfort won first prize, $35 in gift certificates, when a coupon she had deposited in the Frankfort Pharmacy, was drawn first.

Second prize, $25 in gift certificates, went to F. J. Miller, 10275 W. 144th st. Orland Park. He won on a coupon he left at the Orland-Palos DX service station, Orland Park.

Third prize, $15 in gift certificates, was won by Lucille Aterberry, Leila Drive, Mokena, whose coupon was dropped in at the G. F. Wannemacher Midwest Super Mart, Mokena.

The gift certificates are redeemable by the participating merchants.

One may deposit as many coupons as he has available. The winners are determined on Monday so you have this weekend to make your deposits.

PLENTY OF VENISON arrives for the tables of the Herman Weichbrodt family and relations. Mr. Weichbrodt, who operates the Frankfort TV Clinic, got his deer within 20 minutes after he started hunting near Crystal Falls, Mich. He sighted the animal, an eight-point buck, about 100 yards after he left road and one shot with his 32 special rifle was sufficient. The animal weighed 220 pounds. Mr. Weichbrodt was one of 15 area men who were hunting at Crystal Falls. Only three others however, were successful in bagging deer. James, Horras, Mokena, got a buck Marvin Nice and Norman Klotz, Frankfort, each bagged does. Getting permits to shoot does was much more difficult, it was pointed out, than the actual finding and shooting.

Sandburg Dist. To Name New High School--Stagg

The new high school planned for the Sandburg district, No. 230 is to be named after the famous University of Chicago football coach, Amos Alonzo Stagg.

The "Old Man," as he was affectionately dubbed by his players when he was around the 40 mark, is now 100 and retired from active coaching at the University of the Pacific only two years ago. He has been a source of inspiration to thousands of young Americans. Stagg high school is to be built at the intersection of 11th street and Roberts road in Palos Hills. The board of education expects to take bids in January and hopes the building will be ready for occupancy by 1964. It will cost an estimated $2-million.

There will be a freshman class only in September, 1964. It is planned to add a class each year until a four-year program is in operation. The school will have an eventual capacity of 2,000 students.

Stagg, now a resident of a nursing home at Stockton, Calif., was informed of the action of the Dist. 230 board by his wife, Stella, and a son, Paul, director of athletics at the University of the Pacific.

Santa, Yule Lights, Enliven Scene

The business section of Mokena has been transformed into a Christmasland thorofores and when Santa makes his appearance Saturday he should feel right at home.

Santa is scheduled for a visit Saturday that will take him around the community. Then for the next week he will be on hand at the various business places, available for consultation by the very young.

Mokena's Chamber of Commerce, which made the arrangements for Santa's visit, is also sponsoring a Christmas lighting contest and urges all residents to participate. Formal entry is not necessary, Mayor Charles Swanberg explained.

"The judges will tour Mokena and the surrounding territory the night of Dec. 21," he said, "and will thus see all the homes that have out-of-door lights and decorations and every home will be considered."

There will be three places chosen and so there will be three prizes. First prize, it was announced, will be $15, second prize $10 and third prize $5.

DISCUSS PLANS for annual Christmas decorating contest at New Lenox, the affair is sponsored by the New Lenox Association of Commerce and these two men are in charge, Noel (Doc) Elliott, (left) chairman, and School Supt. Arnold Tyler, co-chairman. Homeowners are invited to decorate their homes and all will be viewed by the judges in Christmas week. Prizes will be awarded. Judges will be Alberta Hall, Charles Carnahan and Mayor Stanley Gilmore.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN E. MANN

Annis Lynne Weber Becomes
Bride Of John Edward Mann

St. Jude's Catholic church in New Lenox was the setting for an afternoon ceremony uniting in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Weber of 360 Francis rd., New Lenox and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric T. Johnson of Second Ave. Braidwood, on Nov. 3.

Rev. Faustin Klink, OFM performed the double ring ceremony uniting Miss Annis Lynne Weber and John Edward Mann before an altar banked with bouquets of white 'mums and gladiolus. The bride placed a bouquet of red roses on the altar of the Blessed Mother.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father wearing an exquisite gown of white brocade. The gown was fashioned with a simple scoop neckline, cuffed empire bodice and three-quarter length sleeves. The bell shaped was intricately cut and had a chapel length train. Her bouffant veil was of French silk illusion and was caught to a pear studded, silk organza fabric rose. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered by a white orchid.

The maid of honor, Miss Jacqueline Giacomi wore an emerald green, silk peau de soie sheath with a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The dress was accented by an overskirt of the same material. Her pillbox hat was made of green peau leaves, and her slippers matched her dress. She carried a cascade of light yellow fugi mums.

Dressed identically to the maid of honor were the bridesmaids, Miss Ann Major and Miss Marilyn Capra.

The flower girl, Beborah Ballard, cousin of the bride wore a frock of yellow peau and a headband of yellow baby mums. She carried a basket of yellow mums.

Gilbert Williams served as best man with Norman Klotz and John Lektorich as the groom's ushers.

Mrs. Harry Griffin, organist, played the Lord's Prayer and the Ave Maria.

About 400 people attended the reception which was held in the Pioneer Gardens ballroom with music for dancing furnished by Joel Berry's orchestra.

Mrs. Weber greeted the guests wearing a moss green matelassi sheath, dramatically draped to the side and caught in with a satin belt and jeweled bow. She wore matching silk slippers and hat. Her costume was accented by a corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Johnson chose a mauve Italian knit sheath and a tangerine accessories. She also wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

The bride's going away outfit was a red wool suit, with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple honeymooned at the Wagon Wheel Lodge at Rockton, and are now at home at 931 Ogden ave., New Lenox.

L-W Referendum Up Saturday

At the time it was announced several weeks ago that Dec. 15 had been designated as the date for the building bond referendum for the Lincoln-Way high school district, we pointed out in this column that an addition to the present school plant is a physical necessity.

There is no change in the situation. If Lincoln-Way high school is to function properly the plant must be enlarged. Present enrollment is 35 less than 1,000 and the building is overcrowded. School authorities, whose duties include keeping track of population trends and growths, say that next September the enrollment will be around 1,200.

One can't expect a pint bottle to hold a quart of milk.

Defeat of the bond issue Saturday will mean that the school will be in trouble.

It is quite understandable that property owners do not like to see their taxes increase. But what is to be done? The school cannot be abandoned.

It is possible that if the present building could be operated on a 12-month basis on a double shift that it could be made to serve the area for several more years as it is but to do that would require a complete overhaul of school legislation by the Illinois general assembly. And even if such a change was approved by the assembly -- which is doubtful -- it would be sometime before it went into effect and Lincoln-Way would still be left with its problem of attempting to serve too many with too little.

Overcrowding, educators agree, is detrimental to classwork and studies. Teachers are overworked and as a result are unable to give individual attention to those students who require such help.

No one has any justification for accusing the Lincoln-Way high school board of indulging in luxury building. The school plant is functional and there is nothing fancy that has been added.

The $750,000 sought in Saturday's referendum would finance the additional of 25 classrooms, three rooms for physical education classes (the gymnasium is outgrown too), a larger kitchen more toilet facilities and some space for administrative and guidance work, larger quarters for the infirmary and a maintenance garage to house the school buses.

We are not saying that you should vote for the bond issue. That is your business. We would ask, however, that you consider the question carefully before making up your minds.

Maybe you don't like someone on the board; maybe you don't like someone on the faculty but please don't let things like that influence your decision.

The question is whether the youngsters are to have a school where they can prepare themselves for work or high education. One may say more money should be spent for teachers and we will agree but you could hire the top teachers of the country and what could they do if they didn't have room to hold their classes?

Right now we need a larger school plant.

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND
Often lack of understanding of the terminology of the financial world, makes for difficulty in understanding published reports of corporate reports.

For some years, leading analysts have been more impressed with what is termed "cash flow" when applied particularly as to petroleum producers, than to statement of net earnings. Cash flow is a term indicating the sum of depreciation and depletion charges plus stated net earnings for a given period. Oil producers are allowed special depletion allowances before tax liability on earnings, is computed.

The new tax allowances for depreciation and special credits as to equipment purchases will result in use of "cash flow" in making year to year comparisons of business progress. For some time the better analysts have been using cash flow comparisons between firms due to lack of uniformity in depreciation and depletion charges. Cash flow comparisons should give a better operating picture than net earnings for comparative purposes.

Many students expect a rather substantial increase in the machine tool production due to these special allowances plus the need for increase in efficient production equipment.

Government deficit spending which has been increasing at an accelerated pace, is expected to create increased demand for consumer goods and greater rates of employment. Erosion of the monetary units of the world has been going on since the first monetary unit was invented. National government deficit financing when too great, is expected to accelerate such erosion. Presently, the administration monetary advisors express belief that the erosion will be only at normal rate or thereabouts. Other experts believe that deficit spending in volume expected, will result in a dangerous boom.

Politically, it is almost impossible to stop boom conditions as the average voter is not versed in economics. He also has little interest in a subject that paints a less than rosy picture if he continues excesses.

It is reported that there is a clash between the administration and certain members of the Federal Reserve board as to financing the growing deficit.

Some able students of government doubt that congress will agree to a sizeable income tax reduction if the deficit spending appears to be growing faster than it can be financed properly.

Many top economists in this country and Europe, have expressed belief that our present corporate tax rate is a serious brake on industrial development. They also point to the fact that our rate of machine tool improvement and replacement, is considerably lower than it has been and that industrial production equipment must be kept at a level wherein the most modern industrial developments will be reflected in production machinery and production costs.

Investment advisory services are more generally suggesting their clients be close to fully invested at this time.

Some of the conservative advisory services note that inflationary trends will reflect in increases in commodity prices and in labor costs. They suggest clients consider those industries with the lowest labor costs. Oil production and refining are considered to be the industry with lowest labor costs among major industries.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

The outer door swung open sharply, letting in a blast of crisp December air and Jefferson P. Throttlebottom, the freeloader's freeloader and bourbon champion.

"Hol Hol Hol Greetings of the season," he saluted, and in less time that it takes to write it he was out of his overcoat, had it hung up and was stretched out comfortably in the only comfortable chair in the place with at least six cigars in his pocket that he had speared out of the box on my desk as he was sinking down into the chair.

Mr. Throttlebottom is a man who practices the dictum of never stand when you can sit, nor sit when you can lie down. Once when I accused him of being lazy he entered an indignant denial, he only seeks to conserve his energy, he said, and so endeavors to avoid waste motions.

"What's the ho-ho-ho," I wanted to know, "are you going to play Santa Claus? Because if you are and you want to give me something you can start by giving me half of the cigars you just took."

"Don't be chintzy," he reproved, "and always remember it is more blessed to give than to receive."

"No," he went on, "I am not going to play Santa Claus but I am a great believer in tradition and custom. This is the time of year when one hears a lot of ho-ho-ho's and greetings, so I conform. It is a little early yet to give out with the merry Christmas. That should be left for the day before but I think it is more in keeping with the calendar to say 'Season's greetings' now than a mere hello."

"I would have you know, however, that I have been approached on the matter of playing Santa Claus," Jeff went on, "but I suppose that is only natural for one with some roundity and a bit of color in the nose to be considered when some one is seeking a Santa Claus type."

"But I turned it down. It was for a big office party. It would be a walk on part, really, a sort of gag bit but I don't want to get mixed up in any of these holiday office parties so I declined.

"I noticed in the papers," Jeff continued, "where the Chicago police superintendent has written letters to various company heads asking them to ban liquor at any company or office Christmas or New Year's parties and I hope his request bears fruit."

I was astounded. It was like hearing a dyed-in-the-wool White Sox fan pulling for the Cubs to win a city series game. I started to say something but Jeff cut me off.

"I mean it," he said. "I like my dram as well as the next man," he went on, "maybe more. Maybe I can handle it better than the other fellow. At least I think so, but did you ever notice that is a common feeling ... maybe I should say failing ... among those of us who enjoy the flowing bowl. Each of us thinks he can handle his liquor better than the other chap. The truth of the matter is that the winner and still champion is Ol' Debbil Liquor."

"I don't believe anyone who has gone to one of those Christmas office parties where the bowl is flowing, ever went there with the idea of getting drunk. I think most of them say to themselves, virtuously and sincerely: 'I'll only stay about 10 or 15 minutes ... just for one drink and to say Merry Christmas, and that will give me plenty of time to get those things I'm supposed to at the stores and get home early."

"He thinks how lucky he is to have a home and family to go to on Christmas Eve and he feels sorry for those who don't. He even calls his wife and tells her to expect him early."

"But there is something about those office parties that blow good intentions right out the window and make a mockery of resolutions. One drink becomes a dozen or more, altho all the time he is clinging to his original idea and is insisting one drink is enough. What he means is his mouth isn't big enough to pour two drinks at a time."

"His mouth is big enough, and loud enough, however, unless he is fortunate enough to have passed out and has been shoved into a corner or some little used office or room--for him to have gotten into an argument with various bosses, including the big one, on company policy, or make statements, proposals and demonstrations to female workers that is certain to bring him trouble--either at home or at work."

"Office parties have cost people their jobs, broken up homes and too many times have been responsible for auto accidents that have killed or maimed some of those involved. Anyway you look at it they make a mess out of Christmas."

"I never get loaded on Christmas," Jeff declared. "Not that it would make any difference to anyone if I did. I have no wife or family to make ashamed. There's just me, and it would shame me if I went out and got drunk on Christmas. Christmas is a special day in my book and I mean to respect it."

"Well, so long, brother. Christmas is quite a few days off yet and I think I'll knock off a couple of flagons before supper. All this talking has made me thirsty."

With his final remarks Jeff had gotten up and wriggled into his coat.

Now the outer door swung open sharply letting in a blast of cold December air and out went Mr. Throttlebottom and the rest of my cigars.

PLUGS FOR INDUSTRY

Dear Sir,

My first reaction to the report in the News-Bulletin (Nov. 29) concerning the "Rebuff to Mokena" by the Will county board of supervisors was one of violent dismay. However further consideration of this extremely raw deal made me realize that we, the voters in Will county are partially to blame for not paying much attention to these "minor" offices. How many of our local members of the board of appeals, the first body that acts on re-zoning problems, are known to the residents of our community? They are Harold Cooper, Sheldon Hauck and Dr. Ben Hur Wilson and are appointed by the board of supervisors. Our elected member of the board of supervisors is George Tate of Frankfort. It was Mr. Tate who spoke for the re-zoning and against the welfare of the voters who elected him.

Frankfort and Mokena have cooperated in preparing a carefully studied plan for future orderly growth of the two communities. This has been praised by the Chicago Tribune in its news section as well as editorially.

The Futuristic Homes, Inc., developers, requested rezoning of some property from farming to residential which is in direct conflict to the joint plan of the two villages, as well as contrary to the wishes of some adjacent property owners.

To everyone's amazement the appeals board voted unanimously against the residents of the area and for an outside land developer who will burden our over crowded school district with more homes and further increases in our taxes.

The attorney for the land developer, was Albert Krusemark, he is also the attorney for Summit Hill School District and the Village of Frankfort as well as president of the Lincoln-Way high school board of education. In passing it might be noted that the L-W high school board has been quoted as saying it hopes to assist and encourage more industry to locate in this area.

At the hearing before the entire board of supervisors, which hearing was necessary due to the written protests of adjacent property owners, the village of Mokena and its plan commission appeared to protest this re-zoning as an interference with its orderly plan which called for an industry zoning. Frankfort, Frankfort plan commission and the L-W high school board were absent. This isn't too hard to understand.

There ought to be a law on "conflict of interest" on the local level as there is in the cabinet.

Disturbed

ROCKEFELLER BUSY

Dear Sir: Governor Rockefeller and his machine have restarted his campaign for 1964. One of the first steps has been taken in trying to besmirch Senator Barry Goldwater, who is the only one whom he fears.

Advance, a rather unknown publication (3500 subscribers) which is financed by supporters of Nelson and published by a 22 year old (political punk) and other Harvard Alumni, is one of the mouth-pieces. This group labels themselves as "Progressive Republicans". There is no difference between such views and those of "Liberal Democrats". Beware of both of these wolves.

Senator Goldwater is being criticized for wooing the vote of the "Solid South" with racial issues. Contrary to this claim of advance, his appeal was based upon economic Conservatism and the caliber of the Republican candidates.

The senator is one of the most conservative of the probable candidates, for the presidency in '64". Rockefeller and his gang realize that he (Rocky) is known as a "very liberal or progressive Republican". They must attempt to bury Barry, if possible, in order for him to get the nod.

According to reports, it is alleged that the Republican senatorial candidate James Martin of Alabama was robbed of his election by a vote fraud which resembles a pattern used by political machines in other sections where the race is too close for the safety of the liberals.

Let us hope and pray that the conservatives of this great land, will be able to convince the "sound sleepers" that a mass exodus, from liberalism or progressivism, is our only salvation. A continuance of this crackpotism will destroy us.

The old fable, wherein the spider invites the fly into his parlor, is indeed a parallel to the policies of the do-gooders.

Yule Lighting Can Take On Many Beautiful Forms

Area residents will soon experience again the beauty of the Christmas season as thousands of families extend their greetings thru lighting. They find that both the inside and outside of the home offer limitless possibilities for expressing the spirit of the season in brightness and color.

Lighting engineers of Public Service point out that lighting decorations can be beautiful and inexpensive at the same time. A single string of outdoor lights, for example, can be used to provide an attractive frame for the doorway or the Christmas tree window. Even less complicated is the use of an outdoor flood-lamp to illuminate a wreath on the door.

A simple but dramatic effect may be obtained by trimming outdoor evergreens with silver tinsel and lighting them with floodlights. Colored lenses over the bulbs enhance the beauty.

As millions of lights are turned on, Commonwealth Edison Company and its Public Service division will experience a winter peak demand for electricity. Home decorative lighting will make up the major part of the extra Christmas load, which will reach an estimated 300,000 kilowatts -- the equivalent of three million 100-watt bulbs. The remainder of the special demand comes from ornamental lighting for stores, outdoor community displays and other attractions.

With the growing popularity of lighting and decorating the home is the tendency toward safe practices. Officials of the electric utility offer the following reminders for a Christmas without danger:

Before use, check all lighting sets, cords and sockets for worn, broken or frayed parts.

Keep all lights disconnected while they are being attached to trees, the house or decorative props.

In trimming the tree, take care to keep metallic objects away from electrical connections.

Don't plug too many lights into one outlet.

If an overload blows a fuse, reduce the load. Don't replace a blown fuse with one of higher amperage.

Outside the home, use only weatherproof lighting equipment and heavy duty rubber extension cords.

Throughout the Christmas season, turn off all decorative lighting before retiring or when the family leaves the home.

Believe it or not, many urban residential areas support sizeable cottontail rabbit populations. In municipalities where dogs are required to be on a leash or confined, living for brer rabbit is a cinch. It's not too difficult even where dogs run at large. Dogs cannot cope with an elusive rabbit and a maze of fences, hedges, and the like.

Damage by rabbits to shrubs and trees is usually inflicted during periods when snow covers the ground and they are hard up for food, but it is not always so. Rabbits nip at bark of trees or shrubs apparently because they have nothing better to do, or maybe it keeps their teeth in trim.

Protection from rabbit injury can be accomplished with a barrier of mesh wire encircling trees or shrubs. It must be kept high enough to prevent damage when snow accumulates. Some good repellent chemicals are available for spraying or painting on woody plants, one, called TND-A, is tops for protecting deciduous varieties, but may burn conifers. Another called Z.I.P. does well on coniferous or deciduous plants. Thiram is another good repellent when mixed with an adhesive substance.

Both subjects are key problems in operating a farm service business effectively. Several $300 college scholarships in food technology are available to high school seniors. Applications forms for these scholarships are available on request from 212 Mumford Hall, c/o Dr. Reid T. Milner, Head of the Dept. of Food Technology, University of Illinois. Dr. Milner points out that more than seventy billion dollars is spent annually on food in the United States and the need for college trained people in the industry is enormous. In Illinois alone, food industries need more men and women trained in food and dairy technology than are now being graduated by all the colleges in the United States.

The winter short course in Agriculture at the University of Illinois will be held Feb. 5 to March 15. The annual six-week short course is designed to give young farmers who cannot regularly attend college, a chance to learn the latest in farming ideas and methods.

The cost of the short course will range from $215 to $270 dollars, depending upon the courses, and housing accommodation the individual student chooses.

Illinois Bankers' Association through its member banks, have arranged $100 scholarships. Prospective students may wish to check with the local banker. Additional information about the short courses may be obtained from my office or by writing to Warren Wessels, Short Course Supervisor, 104 Mumford Hall, University of Illinois at Urbana.

A gradual price increase for soybeans over the winter can be expected. This possibility is attributed to two factors - stocks or soybeans at mills are down and stocks of both meal and oil have been reduced. Slightly better oil prices will also lend a helping hand. If you are a bean producer and have storage space, it will probably be worth your while to hold on to soybeans into the spring and possibly early summer.

Parkview Baptists Begin Year With New Minister

The Parkview Baptist church of Mokena is beginning a new year's work under a new pastor, the Rev. W. James Johnston. "The church is planning an extensive evangelistic program," the Rev. Mr. Johnston said, "which we feel will be of help to the community and surrounding territory."

The new pastor comes to Mokena from the Larkin Avenue Baptist church, of Joliet, where he served over seven years. He also has held pastorates in the Chicago area.

The Rev. Mr. Johnston received his education from the University of Saskatchewan, Moody Bible Institute and the McCormick Theological Seminary of Chicago.

Mrs. Johnston is also a graduate of Moody Bible Institute and studied voice with Harriet Ware of the Cosmopolitan School of Music at Chicago.

Tenderfoot scouts Chuck Chladek, Jim Mills and Ricky Otis, were invited to take part in the activities.

N. Lenox Board Will Provide Crossing Guard

Members of the safety committee of the New Lenox PTA appeared at the village board meeting last week to get help in providing a crossing guard at Haven school. The board agreed to contribute $10 a week for such a watchman.

The chore had been done by volunteer mothers from the PTA but lack of volunteers caused the organization to discontinue this play last Friday.

The village board suggested to Paul Alexander, who has been promoting an ice skating rink along the edge of Hickory creek but not on the creek, that he get in touch with the Lions club to see if they have some equipment available that could be used in lighting the rink at night. Alexander had come to the board for suggestions.

The New Lenox board plans court action to collect sewer rents from delinquents. There are also five property owners who will be brought into court for failure to connect with the sewer mains, as provided by ordinance.

Rust Problem Brings Rush of Prescriptions

What to do when the water shows rust?

That is a question that plagues Mokena housewives now and then and one that they have passed along to the village board in the form of complaints.

Trustee Rauch believes that if maintenance workers open and close hydrants more slowly when flushing out the lines some of the trouble would be eliminated.

Durward Fant, the treasurer, feels that an iron filter at the pump would help.

Mayor Swanberg feels that an iron filter plus systematic flushing of lines would be of considerable help.

The mayor asked Trustee Shevlin to see if the hydrants could be flushed a couple more times before cold weather arrived.

The cold weather arrived Monday.

Municipalities Receive Sales Tax For September

Cities and villages sharing in the sales tax collected by the state for September -- they get half a cent on the dollar -- have received their allotments for that period.

The state treasurer's office also includes in the list the amount each municipality has received from this source from January thru September.

New Lenox was paid $2441 dollars for September and the total for the year to that date was $26,179.

Orland Park's September payment was $1,854 and its total was $19,558.

Frankfort received $1,354 for September and its total is $15,058.

Mokena was paid $1,289 for a total of $12,392.

CAKE SALE NETS $300

PROGRESSIVE CAROLING

On Dec. 19, members of the Frankfort Sr., Green Garden and Manhattan MYF will participate in a progressive luncheon and caroling in their church areas. The evening will begin at 6:30 in Green Garden Methodist church and have the first course of the meal. They will then go caroling in Green Garden. From there they will go to Frankfort Methodist church for the main course of the meal and afterward carol in the Frankfort area. They will continue into Manhattan for their dessert and will carol in Manhattan after they have eaten.

CHEVROLET...on the road every day!

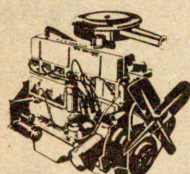

ITS RELIABILITY COMES FROM ITS QUALITY

A nutshell description of Chevrolet trucks could be "Trucks That Work". It's not exactly earthshaking but it says a mouthful. It's what Chevrolet trucks are best known for—their reliability. Ready to work, day after day, whenever you are.

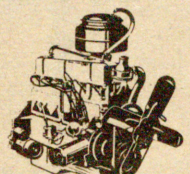

You can't build trucks that perform like this if you don't put quality into engine, chassis and body. Chevrolet does: double-wall construction, insulated cab, select-wood body floor, chain-supported tailgate, ladder-type frame, the careful attention to upholstery and finish. It's this kind of quality that makes any Chevrolet truck—from pickup to heavyweight tandem—worth more on the average at trade-in!

The next organizational meeting of the group will take place next Thursday evening, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m., again at the Behnke home, 19531 South Beechnut Drive.

The Arbury Hills Civic Association held their December meeting at the school on Tuesday evening, Dec. 3. Unfortunately, for the third month in a row, there was not a quorum; so that official business could not be transacted.

The proposed special election to fill in the remainder of the board of directors terms, for those two vacancies on the board, also had to be tabled.

An informal meeting was held instead of the regular business meeting. It was announced that the "Santa Claus Mail Box" had been erected by the Civic Association. It has been put up at the Willow Lane Entrance to Arbury Hills, immediately next to the Beechnut Drive Construction Office.

Another announcement was made to the effect that the Safety Committee had almost completed the project to mark the three entrance-ways to Arbury Hills with redwood posts with luminous tape to enable the entrance-ways to be seen more readily at night.

Santa Claus will be coming to Arbury Hills on Sunday, December 23. Present plans are for Santa to be enthroned in the partially completed garage of Richard Heim at 9431 West Hickory Street between the hours of twelve noon and four o'clock. Any additional plans, or any change in plans will be announced in the near future.

Members of the Bingo club have decided on an official name for their group. The naming took place at their last meeting. Hereafter, they will be called the "First Nighters."

The Hostesses prize for the evening was won by Mrs. Ann Maschmeyer. Mrs. Maschmeyer, who resides at 9526 West Rosewood Lane, will have the next meeting of the First Nighters, Thursday, Jan. 3, at Altho the village of Palos Park contends that the effluent will be unobjectionable to use and enjoyment of residential property in the area, the Zoning Board of Appeals disagreed, reaffirming its findings relative to the application of Forest View Inn, Inc., operators of the Matterhorn Supper club, which received permission to build a similar sewage disposal system to serve the restaurant and cocktail lounge.

Engineers for the nursing home testified that the potential threat to the public health by the effluent was similar in quality and characteristics to rain water running off the adjacent road.

The owner of the property, the American National Bank and Trust Co., proposes to expand the existing nursing home there to a convalescent home and geriatric home with facilities for 130 beds and a staff of 60 persons. The construction will cost $1,200,000, and will be entirely fireproofed and air-conditioned.

Every teacher of grades one through eight reported 100% response from parents. This means that each student of these grades was represented by one or both parents during the conference periods.

Faculty and parents both expressed extreme satisfaction with the conferences. Teachers pointed out insights and understanding are developed for the home and school that is unique with these meetings. Because of mutual feeling among the school board, parents and faculty this will be the established policy for reporting pupil progress for the first quarter grading period of the school year. The remaining three reporting periods will be by the customary letter grades with teacher comments.

One More Day To Sign For Wheat Deal

Cook county farmers are reminded they have until 5 p.m., tomorrow, (Dec. 14) to sign-up for the 1963 winter wheat program. To be eligible for diversion payments, including an 18¢ per bushel price support above the $1.82 loan rate, wheat farmers must reduce their 1963 acreage by at least 20%.

The purpose of the voluntary program is to reduce the burdensome over-abundance of wheat in this country, and at the same time maintain a fair wheat price to farmers. The cooperation of farmers in the 1962 program contributed to a reduction in the current carry-over of wheat. The 1963 program can further assist in the orderly management of wheat stocks.

Paul Fitzpatrick, office manager, in Orland Park, urges interested Cook county farmers to call at the local ASCS office. They will be glad to explain how the program works on individual farms, he said. Hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5 p.m.

TB Seal Donations Are Behind

Figures released from the office of the Will County Tuberculosis Association by John H. French, Christmas Seal campaign chairman, show a total of $20,985.36 received on Dec. 7. Figures for the same date last year totaled $21,431.05.

"Proceeds from this year's Christmas Seal campaign must do more than maintain our present activities against TB," said Mr. French. "We must expand our effort to find all the unknown cases of TB lurking in this community; increase our efforts to help ex-TB patients get back on their feet and stay there; extend our educational program so that people of all ages learn how to protect themselves from TB. We must also put more money into medical research to find better ways of fighting TB," he added.

Frankfort township's share in the Seal contributions to date is $662.83; New Lenox, $734; Manhattan, $235; Homer, $299.50; Green Garden, 91; Peotone, $394.92; Lockport, $2,359.25.

Lincoln-Way Cagers Beat Oak Lawn In Twin Bill

Lincoln-Way high school varsity cagers have a 1-1 record in the Southwest Suburban conference standings as a result of play last Friday night when the Knights knocked-off Oak Lawn 67-44. Lincoln-Way's loss in conference play was to Sandburg the week previous. The Lincolns faltered in that one in the final quarter when the Eagles overtook them and won 58-56 with a basket by Hlavek in the last five seconds.

In the game with Oak Lawn the Knights jumped into a commanding lead in the first quarter, 20 to 8, and it looked like it might be a runaway but the Oaks kept pegging away and outscored the Lincolns 12 to 10 in the second period and 16 to 12 in the fourth.

When the final frame began the Knights held only a six point lead, 42-36 but they came up with a half-court press and five fast buckets by Dan Lajcin, Van Kappa social sorority and Alpha Lambda Delta. Also, she served as treasurer of Pfeiffer Hall (dormitory) last year and is treasurer of this year's junior class, the Illinois Wesleyan university's Womens Chorus, and scholarship chairman for the pledge class.

A. Youngblood in the second period.
Chuck Roberson, 145 pounds, lost in a 6 to 2 decision and Ken DeCamp, 154 pounds, brought in another win with a 6 to 5 decision.

The Knights suffered their fourth loss when Bob Manheim, 165 pounds, loved to R. Olufs in a 4 to 2 decision.
Ron Sylvester tied, adding 2 points to each team score, Bob Haley, heavy-weight, won the final match in a 5 to 4 decision for Lincoln-Way.

The fresh-soph lost to Thornton by a score of 27-20.
